

REGISTRATION TO BE DELAYED UNTIL JULY 23

One Thousand Exemption Boards
Have Not Yet Been Organized

NORTH DAKOTA MUST DRAFT 5,606 FOR SERVICE

Numbered Slips May Be Enclosed in Capsules and Drawn by War Secretary

Washington, D. C., July 13.—Formal announcement was made by the war department today that 687,000 men will be selected from those registered on June 5 for the first national war army and to fill up vacancies in the national guard and the regular army. The quota of men which the different states will be required to furnish includes 5,606 from North Dakota.

Many Not Organized.

With a thousand exemption boards not yet organized, and only 24 states having completed the work of numbering serially the registration cards, indications are that the first drawing will be deferred until the week of July 23.

To Give Insignia.

It is believed that the numbered slips will be enclosed in capsules and drawn on a large glass vessel in Secretary Baker's office. The secretary has expressed willingness to do the drawing himself, but that point is not yet decided.

To prevent embarrassment to those exempted from the war department, it is announced, will give with each exemption certificate a bronze button bearing the inscription:

"Exempted—U. S." This is intended to remove from the exempted men any suspicion of being slackers.

Minnesota is to provide 17,534 and Montana 7,872.

Preparations for the final act in the organization of the national war army went forward rapidly today, indicating that despite delays it might be possible to hold early next week the drawing which is to establish the order in which each of the nearly ten million registrants are to appear before his exemption board.

Probably 4,000 of the 4,559 local exemption boards have now completed their organization, and it was stated authoritatively that as soon as the last board had reported the federal government would begin the drawing.

Won't Give Details.

Officials still decline to give exact details of the plan of the drawing, further than Secretary Baker's announcement that each man of the ten million would know after it was over his place among the registered men of his district and order for liability for service. It may be necessary to draw approximately 700,000 to accomplish this purpose. The fact that officials are withholding information as to the actual number necessary to draw, however, indicates that some plan for simplifying the drawing and reducing the mechanical task has been evolved.

467,000 Men Under Arms.

The table from which the net quota was computed shows that all enlistments in the national guard and the regular army up to June 30 have been allowed as credit. The instructions to governors from the secretary of war accompanying the table directs the governors of the various states to allot the state quota as given among the exemption board districts so that each board in each district will know the exact number of men to be furnished by the districts in filing the state quota.

Contrary to expectations, the government has allowed credit for the total strength of the national guard, including all those men who were in the service prior to April 1 and who had been retained. The figures are given, as follows:

Total strength of the national guard on April 1, 1917, 164,282.

Enlisted in the national guard between April 1 and June 30, 183,719.

Enlisted in the regular army between April 1 and June 30, 179,974.

This means that the United States now has enrolled under arms approximately 467,000 men, classed as war volunteers, and therefore constitute credits to be allowed to the states from which they enlisted.

IF YOU'RE GOING TO FRANCE GET SOLID WITH Y. M. C. A.; IT'S SOLDIERS' DELIGHT

American Y. M. C. A. to Send Five Secretaries With Each Brigade; Special Funds Raised for Good Work.

By REV. CHAS. STELZLE.

The army and navy department of the Young Men's Christian association is mobilizing its forces rapidly for the war with Germany.

For every brigade of about 5,000 men it will have a staff of five trained secretaries. Even before war was declared 150 men of experience were giving their entire time to the army and navy work of the Young Men's Christian association. In addition to these specialists, it may call upon the staffs of practically every association in the United States for special service, and there are over 2,000 such associations in this country having over 4,000 employed officers.

Under normal conditions the annual budget of the army and navy department amounts to $350,000. A special war budget has been raised for our war with Germany. The department spent $300,000 in its work on the Mexican border while the American soldiers were there.

The mobilization plans include besides the personnel of the headquarters organization, an equipment for each brigade of a building with a big assembly room, a series of smaller rooms, a motion picture layout, or gan, chairs and other features to make the building a great social center. The department will set up these equipments in recruiting camps, training camps, permanent garrisons and stations, and in mobilization centers.

It will also be organized to accompany expeditionary forces, across the water if necessary. Wounded men and men on furlough will be looked after by a highly organized group.

In general, the program of the army and navy department will include besides the headquarters and amusement places already referred to, considerable plans for the soldiers and sailors' recreational life, and much will be done in the field of instruction.

This instruction will deal with the intellectual, physical, hygienic and religious welfare of the men. It is probable that when the soldiers are stationed at any particular point for a considerable period of time industrial and general educational classes will be organized.

But chief among the elements of education will be the physical and moral training for military preparedness. The association believes in this kind of preparation and it has the hearty endorsement of this phase of its work from the chief officials in the army and navy. It is believed by the association that only as a soldier is morally and physically fit can he be ready for the most effective service.

UNKENHOLZ HEADS MORTON COUNTY'S NEW FARM BUREAU

The Morton county farm bureau was organized at the Mandan Commercial club rooms Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of developing the agricultural resources of Morton county, to foster all interests, commercial and social, having a bearing on the development and improvement of agriculture and of life on the farm. Over 40 farmers were present and the organization was perfectly successful.

Unkenholz President.

J. H. Kling of New Salem was elected temporary chairman and W. A. Peterson of Mandan temporary secretary. Later S. W. Unkenholz was elected president of the organization and John Christensen of New Salem vice president and E. J. Lidstrom of Glen Ullin secretary and treasurer. The board of directors elected were: W. J. Smith, Hebron; George Ormiston, Ludson; August Nickel, Judson; P. J. Gwyther, Florio; I. A. Wiley, Selen; G. F. Rhomb, Timmer; J. E. Sawtell of Flasher.

CONTRACT UP TO LEAGUERS ON ITS MERITS

Coates Says League Isn't Using Coercion to Put Through Contract With A. W. U.

MANAGER SAYS THERE IS SOME OPPOSITION

Proposition New to Farmers—
Believes Union Has Cleaned
House and Can Deliver

League members are not unanimous in their approval of the proposed contract with the Agricultural Workers' union to supply farm laborers for North Dakota, D. C. Coates, general manager of the Nonpartisan league, announced this afternoon, prior to the second of a series of ratification meetings, which opened in the county building at 2 o'clock.

"It is quite natural that there should be some opposition," said Mr. Coates to the interviewer. "The proposition is new. No effort is being made to persuade the farmers to accept it. The agreement is submitted on its merits. It does not meet with favor from a majority of the delegates at these ratification meetings. It will be dropped if it is ratified by these delegate conventions, a referendum vote of the entire league membership will be taken, and only when we find that a great majority of the league members want it will we enter into a contract."

Terms of Agreement.

"The terms of the agreement," said Mr. Coates, "are much more liberal than the press has represented. In a general way, the union asks a minimum wage of $4 for a 10-hour day and a certain standard of working conditions, pay for overtime and for holidays. The demands are not unreasonable. I have looked into the union, and it seems to me to be on a much better basis than it has been heretofore. I believe it is organized solidly enough to carry out any contract it may make with the farmer. I also believe the union is in a position to supply all of the labor North Dakota needs and that it will be skilled labor of an orderly, dependable kind."

The Non-League Farmer.

"How about the farmer who doesn't belong to the league? If he desires to, can he get in on the contract?" Mr. Coates was asked.

"Well," said the league manager, "I don't just know about that, but I am of the opinion that if there is any farmer who is not in the league that wants to take advantage of this contract we can accommodate him."

Few Delegates Here.

Although today's meeting is the only one to be held in the western part of the state, comparatively few delegates are in attendance. Each delegate represents a certain league district, with power to vote its approval or disapproval of the plan. Mr. Coates was averse to making details of the contract public. He felt the time for such publicity would be after its ratification by these district conventions. The agreement was explained this afternoon by J. N. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture and labor and Representative N. G. Whipple, members of the committee which conferred with the union at Kansas City, and Mr. Coates.

VALLEY CITY FARMERS REJECT LEAGUE'S PLAN TO CONTRACT WITH AGRICULTURAL WORKERS' UNION

Valley City, N. D., July 13.—The league's proposal to contract with the Agricultural Workers' union, an auxiliary of the I. W. W. for a supply of farm labor for North Dakota was unanimously rejected by 150 delegates, representing the farmers of this section of the state, in a ratification meeting addressed yesterday afternoon by President A. C. Townley, whose ideas are embodied in the proposed agreement.

In his plea for the ratification of the proposed contract, President Townley, in a typical manner, paid his respects to the press, which he declared, has misrepresented conditions of the agreement. It was explained that the contract does not seek to establish a closed shop, nor to prevent the farmer from employing his sons or local labor which is not affiliated with the union.

At the close of the several explanations made the farmers, without a dissenting vote, rejected the plan in toto.

BIG FARMING COMPANY.

The Maloney Farm Co., Webster, capitalized at $500,000 was incorporated today by Thomas H. Maloney, Catharine Maloney, Thomas Maloney and two other Maloneys.

—Now that Hall's session, the eyes of General Kornilov are turned toward the railroad center of St. Petersburg, a town of 100,000 population, a junction of the railway line to Leningrad and the branch line to Chodorow. Military writers, describing the defense of the city, say its chief strength is on the north and northwest fronts. There is a widespread expectation of an import and counter attack in the northwest front.

Too Drastic Control Halts Food Bill

Senate Not Ready to Deliver All Industries Over to Government

MUST CONFINE MEASURE
STRICTLY TO FOODSTUFFS

TRADING HALTS.

Chicago, July 13.—For the first time since the establishment of the Chicago board of trade, trading in wheat came to a standstill today. Not a single transaction took place during the first half hour of the session. The unprecedented halt was attributed to the uncertainty of the outcome of the pending food legislation in congress.

Meanwhile the president is giving detailed study to the house bill as amended and pending in the senate, and of the greatly restricted substitute measure by Senator Gore as a compromise.

The president, it is said, was informed that the pending bill, as amended to extend the government control over iron, steel, cotton and other products in addition to food and fuel, would have to be changed if it is to be put through the senate.

As a result the leaders were all agreed today that the revised bill will deal primarily with foodstuffs and fuel, with steel, iron and other products stricken out.

An embargo effected immediately against all shipments intended for exports of commodities named in President Wilson's recent export proclamation, except when bill of lading is presented with a federal license number furnished or authorized by the expert export council at Washington, was ordered today by the American Railway and Car Service commission.

HOLLWEG NOT SUITED FOR PEACE PARLEY

German Press Declare He Should Retire When End of War Is in Sight

AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT
URGES HIS RETENTION

Copenhagen, July 13.—The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger says a communication from the Austro-Hungarian government has been received in Berlin declaring that Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg's continuance in office as chancellor is of importance and his retirement a fatal mistake.

The executive committee of the Catholic center of the reichstag on the other hand believe Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg unsuited to conduct peace negotiations and he should be replaced before an ultimate peace conference.

The center's party organ, Germania, while denying the report that the party had demanded the chancellor's retirement for which "at present" there is no compelling ground or that it had an interest in unseating him, says the party considers the chancellor scarcely fitted to participate in the peace negotiations, especially considering the fact that the declaration occurred under his administration, but that it is erroneous to consider his further continuance in office a hindrance to bring on peace.

The distinction drawn indicates that the center leaders believe the chancellor may remain for the present but should resign before the actual peace conference.

LATE REGISTRATIONS

To date 25 of North Dakota's 33 counties have reported to the adjutant general's office 164 registrations that have been made since June 5. Charles Leismann, in charge of this department, is of the opinion that the total number of tardy registrations will approach 500.

The comment of the newspapers in Petrograd is sharp. One declares it is impossible for Russia to tolerate Finland's move and another hints at armed interference.

FAR WEST IN ARMS TO DRIVE OUT I. W. W.'S

Associated Press Dispatches Filed at Biesbee Censored by Vigilance Committee

COLUMBUS READY TO USE FORCE IF NECESSARY

Few German Agents Located in Arizona Mining Camp by Citizens

San Francisco, Cal., July 13.—The far west continued today to align itself against disturbances caused by I. W. W. said to be marching from officials and some citizens on their behalf were active following the lead of Biesbee, where at an early hour the citizens who yesterday deported 1,200 men, had been asked to mobilize against any return of the undesired.

Marching from North.

Sheriffs of counties around San Francisco bay were prepared to repel I. W. W. said to be marching from the north, and during the night deputies took charge of all roads. An I. W. W. organizer was waylaid north of Bellingham, Wash., last night, when he attempted to reach a logging camp. He was taken back to Bellingham and told to take the first outbound steamer.

From Butte, Mont., where the present situation first gained prominence, reports indicate a settlement of the mine strike within the near future. Dissension has broken out among the different elements, and a mass meeting will be held Sunday to decide whether a portion of the men who struck will return to their tasks.

CENSORSHIP DISPATCHES.

Douglas, Ariz., July 13.—The censorship imposed on the Associated Press dispatches filed here and in Biesbee yesterday during the deportation of nearly 1,200 members of the I. W. W. from Biesbee was directed by two officers of the Phelps-Dodge corporation—Robert Rea, general auditor of the corporation, and H. H. Stout, superintendent of the Copper Queen smelter here. These men, and not an army officer, as reported to the outside world by the Western Union office at the time, were the ones who issued the censorship orders to the telegraph company.

The manager of the local telegraph office thought Mr. Stout was captain in the regular army and that he was bound to obey his orders.

COLUMBUS ARMED.

Columbus, N. M., July 13.—The I. W. W. who were deported yesterday from Biesbee, and whose box cars were sidetracked at Hermannas, N. M. late last night, left Hermannas during the forenoon today and strung for a mile along the railroad track walking east in this direction, according to reports received here.

Relying on this information, Columbus citizens turned out heavily armed to impel an invasion. The situation of the deported persons was described as desperate. Hermannas, a railroad station, surrounded by a few houses, had no supplies for feeding the I. W. W. numbering nearly 1,200. It was feared a situation difficult to control might arise if they swarmed into town here.

GERMAN AGENTS BUSY.

Miami, Ariz., July 13.—Ten German subjects, at least two of whom are believed to be army officers, have been located here and in a nearby camp, it became known today. They are believed to have been sent into this district to assist the I. W. W. agitators in tying up copper mines.

BANK GUARANTY BOARD MEETS TO ORGANIZE TODAY

North Dakota's first depositors' guaranty fund commission, composed of Governor Frazier, State Examiner Waters and B. J. Schorge, are president of the Williams county bank at Williston, J. E. Hansen, cashier of the Equity International bank at Fargo and O. B. Hanson, cashier of the Scandinavian American bank at Grand Forks, is in session today at the capitol for the purpose of completing its organization and making arrangements for placing in effect a statute whose purpose is to absolutely safeguard deposits in state banks of North Dakota. The statute is somewhat similar to one in force in South Dakota. Before its passage it was approved by a committee representing the state banking association, and its three appointive members were named by Governor Frazier from a list furnished by the bankers' organization.

This commission will have supervision of a guaranty deposit fund accumulated through the levying of an assessment equivalent to 120 of one per cent of the average daily deposits of each bank and which may be replenished through special assessments at the discretion of the board. The act affects every bank and trust company in the state except those under national supervision and its provisions are mandatory insofar as state banking institutions are concerned.

Finnish Diet Declares Independence, Creating New Crisis In Russia

Petrograd, July 13.—The Finnish diet on Thursday passed the second reading of a bill virtually establishing Finnish independence. The passage of the bill has created a crisis here and in C. Therseden, president of the council of workmen and soldiers delegates, has gone to Helsinki in an effort to settle the differences.

An indication of the seriousness of the situation was the late sitting of the Petrograd cabinet and the declaration of Premier Loxoff to summon back to the capital the ministers who are now with the army. According to one newspaper socialist and cabinet members declared themselves in principle in sympathy with Finland's move.

The comment of the newspapers in Petrograd is sharp. One declares it is impossible for Russia to tolerate Finland's move and another hints at armed interference.

TO SPEND $640,000 FOR LARGE AIR FLEET

Washington, D. C., July 13.—The administration is providing for a great aircraft program at an initial cost of $640,000, which is ready today to be reported to the house for its consideration.

That we have been forced to adopt it and virtually say to the neutral nations, "fight with us or eat with Germany," is due in great measure to the cowardice and cupidity of the neutrals themselves.

Germany has stood and is standing.

REACHING FOR GUN WHEN FATAL SHOT WAS FIRED
Alleged Murderer of Clarence
Hicks Says Victim Had Been Bad Neighbor

(Tribune Special.)
Sterle, N. D., July 12.—Cool and collected, calmly sticking to his story under a heavy fire of cross examination, Leon Nash, on trial for the murder of Clarence Hicks, this morning testified that when he went to Hicks' homestead shack to protest with the latter for stabbing his (Nash's) mule and killing his dog, Hicks reached for his gun, and that, then, fearing for his own life, Nash fired the fatal shot. Hicks, Nash testified, had generally been a bad neighbor, visiting repeated annoyances upon the accused. He could not be swayed from his testimony on direct examination to the effect that he did not go to Hicks' cabin with the intention of killing him, and that he did not fire until he believed his own life in danger.

Arguments began before noon. State's Attorney Eastwood for the prosecution reiterated his stand that the evidence plainly convicted Nash of a deliberate, cold-blooded murder, and that the maximum penalty should be exacted. Attorney Allen for the defense, argued that the charge of justifiable homicide had been clearly established. It is probable that Judge Nuesse will finish summing up late this afternoon and that the jury will get the case before court adjourns this evening.

Hicks Pleaded for Life.
A dramatic incident of the trial yesterday was 17-year-old Jacob Brantner's story of how Hicks pleaded pitifully for his life when he opened his door and saw Nash standing there with a 36-4 rifle in his hands. Brantner was employed by Hicks at the time of the killing last December, claimed to have witnessed the shooting, and proved to be the state's best witness.

GAME ASSOCIATION
RESENTS CHARGES OF FLIMFLAMMING

Officers of Minot Sportsmen's
Organization Will Demand
Retraction

Minot, N. D., July 12.—Officials of the North Dakota Sportsmen's association interviewed today deny absolutely that the association had any connection with the proposed Mandan game farm, with which attempted purchase they were charged in an article in a Fargo league organ, July 12, with attempting to flimflam the state game board. They further deny that Mr. Ellis of Mandan is a member or connected in any capacity with the North Dakota State Sportsmen's association.

The said association has been in existence in North Dakota about 20 years and never has taken active part in any game propagation proposals. C. H. Parker of Minot and J. R. Pence of Minot were president and secretary until three weeks ago, when H. L. Woods and Ted Lykken, both of Grand Forks, were elected. At that time the association organized a new game protection and propagation department, of which Dr. Pence was elected chairman and E. B. McCutcheon, former chief game warden, secretary. This department has done no active work except to canvass for members.

C. H. Parker and Dr. Pence, when interviewed, denied absolutely any connection or knowledge of the proposed Mandan game farm or knowledge or acquaintance with Mr. Ellis, purported vice president of the North Dakota Sportsmen's association, as that office has been held for years by A. R. Chezik, a prominent business man of Portal.

E. B. McCutcheon, interviewed, said: "As far as our association is concerned, it doubtless will do our organization work serious injury. Being unable tonight to consult legal advice, we will tomorrow consult legal advisers and be guided by their opinions as to future action. We have no connection whatsoever, direct or implied, in the purchase or attempted purchase of the Mandan or any other game farm. Personally, I look forward to the day when we will have not less than 50 game farms in the state, but it is absolutely unnecessary to pursue a single farm. We have a better plan. There are millions of acres of land in McHenry, southern Bottineau, Pierce and Benson counties, practically deserted, which is ideal for game farms and refuges, and it can be leased for a trifle, possibly only payment of taxes. Would Lease; Not Buy.

Our plan is that the state game board lease, not buy, these lands. Ten thousand dollars game funds paid in by the hunters should be loaned to the farmers on real estate security to create an interest fund that will lease several thousand acres, thus keeping the game funds intact for a rainy day. This is the plan of our association. Doubtless, the Courier-News confused our association with the state game protective organization of Mandan, of which Mr. Edquest is secretary. I would rather take this view, but the association will make a searching investigation to fathom the matter, as we have been seriously damaged.

"If Mr. Langer would probe deeper, he might discover other parties prominent in politics and officeholders who may have some knowledge of this deal—who can tell? This is a day of surprises, but our association has no connection in any manner and we shall take steps to vindicate ourselves and secure reparation."

PLAYTIME WITH MEN OF THE NAVY

What Happens When Several Hundred Jackies Are Turned Loose for Shore Liberty.

MAKES FOR THE 'HAPPY SHIP'

Liberality of Private Citizens Has Given Men of the Fleet a Big Athletic Field for Their Recreation.

With the United States Atlantic Fleet—it is two bells in the afternoon watch when the shrill trill of the bosun's whistles are heard piping the crews of the mighty dreadnaughts to the rails and the sing-song cries of the bosun's mates carry out over the water, "Liberty party to muster."

This is the summons given three times each week to the men of the Atlantic fleet to take their hours of recreation on the immense athletic field provided for them by the Navy league. By the hundreds, on every battleship and cruiser, the youthful, white-uniformed Jackies come rushing on deck to form into line for the liberty inspection.

Two long white lines form on deck and every man stands rigidly at attention while officers pass along marking the appearance of each one. Their uniforms are spotlessly white. Their shoes freshly blackened. Off come their little round white caps to show that their hair is closely cropped. No visitor to the fleet fails to be struck, when he views that line at inspection, with the extreme youth of the men, their intelligent faces and happy, smart appearance. The average age appears to be less than twenty years and many of them seem barely to have passed their eighteenth birthday on the date of their enlistment. From every state in the Union they hail and thousands of them from the farms of the middle West. A collection certainly of America's finest gathered on the deck of a floating fortress to form the first line of the nation's defense.

Off for Day of Sport.
On every sun-tanned face is worn a broad smile in expectation of the sport that the afternoon will bring. Over the rail, the visitor sees the ship's launches bobbing about in the swanly with the bowmen holding fast to the ship's side with their bootlocks. Then the sharp word of command rings out on deck and the white line of sailors begins to move forward toward the gangway and the men go over the side to the waiting launches.

Discipline begins to give way a little at this point, although the coxswain of the boat is all business as he calls to the bowmen to shove off. The afternoon's recreation has begun. Thousands of superlatively healthy, absolutely carefree and very young men are turned loose. To be sure there is the provost guard with their policemen's sticks, but that is only to guard against the chance of ugly blood developing from the fun, which does not happen.

When the dock at the athletic field is reached the men from the launches tumble out pell-mell and immediately begins a raid upon the canteen. Pop is sold faster than corks can be pulled. The man who gets anything over the canteen counter fights for it. You must come with your change ready or go without. There is too much business to stop to change money.

Watermelons Last Quick.
A pump receives the overflow from the canteen and those who have been unable to spend their money for candy or pop take their chances on getting ducked under the pump. A farmer drives onto the field with a load of watermelons. At 50 cents apiece his watermelons last about fifty seconds. A colored cook's helper buys a melon and dives into it when a huge hand belonging to a Jackie from an Indiana farm buries the dark's face into the melon up to his ears. Here are a few of the latest—and they are some of the greatest hits that ever had them all humming on Broadway!

"Huckleberry Finn"
Columbia Record A-2245, 75c
Here is a real song of all the joy of boyhood, a song that takes you back to barefoot days, sung by the fine clear tenor of Sam Ash with a snap and go and a rollicking enjoyment that will have any roomful joining in the chorus. And on the other side is "You Don't Have to Come from Ireland to Be Irish," another song of pure joy and lively fun.

"I Wonder Why"
Columbia Record A-2238, 75c
The catchiest, dearest of musical show hits—the song of "Love of My Life" sung by Anna Wheaton in such a pretty, appealing way that you can't wonder why all Broadway's wild about her! A xylophone furnishes a novel little touch that adds to the charm of this lively bit of song. On the other side is "Rolled Into One," the star song of the show in which Miss Wheaton is now starring, "Oh, Boy," the big Broadway hit.

"Hong Kong"
Columbia Record A-2232, 75c
A song of love and a really get—Burr and King, Keith Van Dine and a lively, lively Chinese love song with a teasing melody. The boys playing it and every one listening, at any time, will be sure to get it. Especially with the fine tenor duet, "The Love of My Life," on the other side.

If you want to listen to some other great hits, ask your Columbia dealer to play "There Aren't Any Stars in Heaven" (A-2213, 75c); "If You Ever Get Lonely" (A-2210, 75c); "The Love of My Life" (A-2220, 75c); the tenor duet "Georgia" (A-2210, 75c); and "Evening Brings Rest and You" (A-2210, 75c).

When you hear these records (with the "Hush" notes) they are sure to be the records you want!

FIFTEENTH LESSON PREPARED BY MME ARCHINARD

Nous leur avons pris des machines à coudre.
Noo luh rāvon pree day māsheen ā coodr.

In these lessons the English phrase appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second line, and the pronunciation in the third line.

In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters, A and U, denote the long sound, as in "Hate" and "dude"; curved lines over these letters indicate the short sound, as in "at" and "but"; two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat similar to the German "ue," which Americans may approach by trying to pronounce long U and long E at the same time.

Cut out these lessons and paste them in your notebook.

SECRETARY OF WAR DOES NOT APPROVE INDIAN COMPANIES

Uncle Sam's new army will have no solid companies, troops or regiments of Indians, enlisted on Standing Rock or any other reservation. Secretary of War Newton D. Baker does not approve of the plan, and Capt. A. B. Welch of the new Bismarck company, who had proposed raising a company among his foster brethren of the Dakota nation on the Standing Rock reservation, was so advised by Cato Sells, Indian Commissioner, today.

Captain Welch took the matter up with Commissioner Sells, who referred it to Secretary Baker. The latter says: "Indians may enlist and do enlist in various regimental organizations of the army, where they have performed very good service, and some have attained non-commissioned grades. The plan of using Indian organizations in the army is not a new one, and was given a thorough practical trial in 1891, when the recruitment of one company in each nineteen regiments of infantry and one troop in each eight regiments of cavalry from various Indian tribes recruited in the immediate vicinity of their organization was ordered. After a conscientious test, covering several years, the plan was discontinued. I think it would be much better for the interests of all concerned for the Indians to enlist in regiments regularly established."

The secretary of war advises there will be no more peculiarly racial regiments organized except of negroes. He does not think it advisable to raise organizations composed of Indians for service during the war only. Experience, he states, fully demonstrates the fact that Indians object very seriously to separation from their families, and discipline has not been successful in overcoming this objection.

"I intend to follow out Secretary Baker's suggestion and recruit individually among the young men of the Sioux on the Standing Rock reservation," said Capt. Welch this morning. "I have a number of good recruits in sight there, and I know from personal experience that they make very good soldiers. They will be enlisted with the new Bismarck company, for which new recruits are coming in every day."

SOUTH DAKOTA DECLARES WAR ON OLD FOES

No Thought of Agreement With Industrial Workers in Sister State

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 12.—While the farmers of North Dakota are treating with the I. W. W. through their Nonpartisan league organization, the farmers of South Dakota have declared war to the hilt on their ancient enemy, and they are preparing to strenuously repel any retaliatory measures which it is rumored the I. W. W. may take to voice their displeasure with the law passed last winter creating a state sheriff and placing under his command a state constabulary composed of more than 60 county sheriffs. Federal authorities have pledged the state their co-operation in suppressing threatened depredations.

Midgets Stand Better Chance Than Giants of Being Drafted Into War

Unless Exceptionally Well Proportioned Big Fellows Will Be Rejected—Men Below 5 Feet 4 Inches to Be Taken for First Time—Eight Good Teeth Prime Requisite.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—In preparation for the selective draft to military service, which is expected to take place next week, Provost Marshal General Crowder took these two steps today:

Announced the physical requirements of the men who will be selected for the national army and the rules and regulations governing the acceptance and rejection of eligibles by examining physicians reporting to the exemption boards.

Issued the census estimates of the present population of states, counties, and cities, which will be used as a basis in computing the quotas of drafted men to be furnished to the national army.

Guard Against Slackers.

As soon as the draft takes place the men called will report to the exemption boards and receive assignment of examination by the appointed physicians. If a man is unfit physically for military service he will be exempted. If he is found fit the question of his exemption will depend upon the judgment of the exemption board on other than physical grounds.

It is the purpose of the government to release men from service only for actual disability. This also is apparent in a portion of the regulations which declares that temporary effects of acute disease or of any injury are not to be regarded as justifying a finding that the person so affected is physically deficient and not physically qualified for military service.

Provide Weight Standards.

The rules prescribe that all men presenting themselves for examination must be stripped.

A standard height, weight and chest measurement is first set forth for guidance of the physicians. These figures range from a height of 5 feet and 1 inch to 6 feet and 4 inches. The standard weight for a man 5 feet and 1 inch tall is given as 118 pounds, his chest deflated at 31 inches, and inflated at 33 inches. For a man 6 feet 4 inches tall, the standard weight is 211 pounds, chest 38½, and expansion 4 inches.

Will Take Little Men.

Variations in weight and expansion are permissible for qualification as follows:

Height, 61 to 64 inches, a variation of 4 pounds and 1 inch in chest expansion; 64 to 68 inches tall, 10 pounds and 2 inches; 68 to 69 inches, 12 pounds and 2 inches; 69 to 70 inches, 15 pounds and 2 inches; 70 to 72, 20 pounds and 2 inches; 72 inches and over, 24 pounds variation in weight and 2 inches in expansion.

To be acceptable for military service a man below 5 feet and 4 inches in height, the rules direct, must be "of good physique, well developed, and muscular."

Giants Face Rejection.

"Unless exceptionally well proportioned," the rules also say, "men above 6 feet and 4 inches in height should be rejected."

Causes given in the rules for rejection of men for military service include the following:

Mental, lack of normal understanding.

Skin, chronic, contagious and parasitic diseases, when severe and extensive; chronic ulcers, deep or extensive.

Head, abrupt depression in skull, the consequence of old fracture.

Need Straight Spines.

Spine, curvatures, caries, abscess.

lateral curvature, is cause for rejection when it exceeds one inch to either side.

Ears, all catarrhal and purulent forms of otitis media; perforation of tympanum.

Eyes, acuity of vision below standardized requirements; conjunctival affection, including trachoma and entropion, strabismus, and other affections affecting clear vision.

Mouth, nose and fauces, deformities interfering with mastication or speech; chronic ulcerations, fissures, or perforations of the hard palate; hypertrophy of the tonsils sufficient to interfere with respiration or phonation; loss of voice or manifest alteration of it.

Must Have Eight Good Teeth.

Teeth, at least four serviceable molars required on each side of jaw, two above and two below; good fitting bridge or plate where not more than one-half of the teeth are involved is not disqualifying.

Neck, pronounced goiter, great enlargement or ulcerations of the cervical glands.

Chest, all chronic diseases of lungs and heart.

Abdomen, chronic inflammation of the gastro-intestinal tract, including chronic diarrhoea, dysentery, and other diseases of the contained organs.

All genito-urinary diseases, hemorrhoids of pronounced type, prolapsus, fistula and fissures.

Against Webbed Fingers.

Other ailments included in the list are rheumatism, diseases of the joints of disabling type, irreducible or false joints, severe sprains, atrophy, paralysis, permanent contraction of the muscles, etc.

Hands, webbed fingers, extension or loss of motion of one or more fingers; loss or serious mutilation of either thumb; total loss of index finger of right hand; total loss of any two fingers of the same hand; loss of second and third phalanges of all fingers of either hand.

Legs and feet, varicose veins, pronounced knock knees, club feet, webbed toes, bunions, overriding or marked displacement or deformity of any of the toes, hammer toes.

Must Unmistakably Disqualify.

The rules further admonish the exemption boards that the afflictions listed as disqualifying men for service must be present in such a degree as to "clearly and unmistakably disqualify the man for military service."

The date for the draft of the new army is still withheld and may not be announced until next week, owing to delays by exemption boards in completing their registered lists.

Not Very Complimentary.

My husband is a minister. One day in conversation with two little neighbor children he kindly inquired if they would be at church the coming Sunday, to which the oldest replied: "Yes, Evelyn and I is going. Are you going to make the pot?"

"Mother of the World."

"He who hath not seen Cairo," said the Jewish barker, "hath not seen the world. Her soil is gold; her Nile is a marvel; her houses are palaces, and her air is soft with an odor above noles, refreshing the heart. And how should Cairo be otherwise when she is the Mother of the World?"

BRUTE POWER.

In order to bolster up the waning morale of the folk back home, a German military critic tells Germany the American soldiers have nothing like the finesse in execution and the quickness of decision that marks German troops. He adds America's military contribution will be the mechanical application of brute power.

If this war to crush Prussian militarism were not such a terribly serious thing, one would feel like smiling.

All of us know the Prussian type—heavy-headed, ponderous, slow-thinking, slow-moving, very methodical, digging down into the minutest details. We also know the American type—quick, alert, nervously eager, adaptable, always on the move.

But, our power felt only in the form of brute force. The Prussian has made his cause the very apotheosis of brute power. It knows no laws of man or God. It wrecks and ruins cities and farms, churches and schools, noncombatant women and children, with the same callous indifference. It uses instruments of war not employed since the dark ages.

It is Prussian brute force that has abetted the benightedness of the American people and steered them to the point where they are determined to see this war through at whatever cost.

The American admires power—when applied to the arts of civilization. He harnesses it to do the work of the world, not to tear down and murder.

It is because the American idea of the use of power is so radically opposed to the Prussian that we are in this war to smash down this old, furious Prussian brute force.

A BILLION BUSHELS.

The American farmer did not wait to be called for service. He volunteered.

He has already shown he can win the war if the nation is able to maintain a delivery service which will distribute the staples he produces.

The six big crops—wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley and potatoes—will show a billion bushels increase over last year's production, according to official government figures.

Corn, the great native American food staple as is fitting, leads in patriotism, with the greatest crop in history, and several other new top levels may be established.

Tobacco will break all records, and if reports from the front are any gauge of tobacco's place in the soldier's recreation diet, this is as good news to the "Tommy" and "Sammy" as the capture of another first line trench.

Never has the world seen soldiers in such close array as the serried ranks of wheat stalk and corn stalk troops mustered today up hill and down dale and across the broad plains of the land nature has thus herself enlisted to keep free and to propagate freedom.

These crops are the fertility of American soil. They speak for the material world. "A world made safe for democracy" is the destiny of the American mind. It speaks for the spiritual world.

Americans had not known, until the test came, how rich they were in either of these respects.

The war has already done more permanently to increase the yield per acre of America's fields than 10 years of education by the national and state departments of agriculture and 10 years of propaganda by the fertilizer companies.

The bread bullets are pouring into the arsenal. We shall not run short of ammunition.

In the dispute between young Mrs. Gould and her mother as to whether the mother is dead or alive, our bets are down on the mother.

KEEPING UP.

When they let him out of Massachusetts state prison the other day he felt the light and heat of the sun on his shaven head for the first time in 30 years. He blinked his eyes, naturally. More than that—his brain blinked.

He asked to be taken to the navy yard. He rode there on an electric car. There were no electric cars when he was "sent up."

At the navy yard he watched them repair several government super-dreadnoughts. Dreadnoughts had not been dreamed of when he last sat on his front porch with his coat off in the cool of the evening and read his newspaper.

Subways and aeroplanes, skyscrapers—the list of the commonplaces of this day which were brain-stunning novelties to him is endless. He sat in silence. Then he tried to smile, but failed.

What he said was short:

"I don't feel that I am alive." Returned to life for the first time in 30 years, he felt less alive than at any time in 30 years of living death. All he knew anything about, any more, was death—the death of prison.

He couldn't come back. They had to take him back—to the state penitentiary.

What happened to him in 30 years may happen to other men in 30 days. The man who stands still for a month or a year is behind, and must come back. He may have been a scratch man when he started, but the handicap is likely to prove too much for him.

Don't fall behind. It is hard to come back. It is bitter to be taken back—to the rear seats of the world theatre. It is better to keep up.

SAVE IT.

If you were getting paid in bullets every Saturday night, you'd not go shooting your bullets for foolishness, would you?

Not in war time, anyhow.

Well, dollars buy bullets. Your pay envelope is full of bullets.

There's only one direction in which to shoot bullets now—at the German despotism.

Every bullet in America is needed at the front.

You know that, surely. Then don't shoot any bullets in any other direction.

Make every dollar count in the war! That means no wasting of dollars.

And no wasting of pennies, either, for dollars are made of pennies.

Get the saving habit. Salt your money away—not in a sock or a hole in the ground, but in a place where it can work.

Nobody buries bullets. Bullets are only good when they are put in guns.

Put your money where it can shoot. Put it in a bank. Give it a chance.

Don't handle any of it loosely. Save it!

We are at war and war is no funny business. You have no more right to be reckless and careless with your money than anybody else has. This is Everyman's war and it's up to little old Mr. Everyman to buckle down and do his best.

Save your money!

Illinois man admits he doesn't know the name of the girl he married. Maybe the girl's name is Aphasia.

Bumper crops for America! Another bump for the Kaiser!

Let this be the open season for German spies.

KAISER GIVES HIS PEOPLE MERE SOP

Mere Restores Franchise Provision Offered in His Easter Proclamation

Berlin, July 13.—Emperor William has directed the following decree to be presented to the state ministry: "Upon the report of my state minister made to me in obedience to my decree of April 7 of the current year, I herewith decide to order a supplement to the same, that the draft of the bill dealing with the alteration of the electoral law for the house of deputies which is to be submitted to the diet of the monarchy for decision is to be drawn upon the basis of equal franchise. The bill is to be submitted in any case early enough that the next election may take place according to the new franchise. I charge you to make all necessary arrangements for this purpose."

Word was received several days ago that the German emperor had issued a decree for franchise reform, but hitherto the text of the order, which affects only Prussia, has not been available. It beats out advice received from Copenhagen last night that the results of the German political crisis thus far are comparatively small. The introduction of the decree of "equal franchise" merely restores a provision, which, according to Berlin gossip, was contained in the original draft of the emperor's Easter manifesto and was eliminated at the last moment in consequence of reactionary intrigue.

It was also pointed out that the imperial announcement has not prescribed immediate institution of the reform, inasmuch as the next election may not take place until after the war, and there is not a word of the introduction of parliamentarism in the emperor's manifesto.

PURITY DELEGATES—Governor Frazier today issued commissions as delegates to the tenth international purity congress to Mrs. Kate Selby Wilder, Fargo; Judge C. A. Pollock, Fargo; Rev. W. J. Hatt, Bismarck; O. S. Aaker, Minnaukan; Rev. P. J. Hennessy, Michigan; and Mrs. William J. Clapp, of Fargo.

THE HILLMAN

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM Author of "THE DOUBLE TRAITOR"

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—On a trip through the English Cumberland country the breakdown of her automobile forces Louise Maurel, a famous London actress, to spend the night at the home of John and Stephen Strangeway.

CHAPTER II.—At dinner Louise discovers that John and Stephen are a coming-baiting recluse.

CHAPTER III.—Next morning she discovers that John, the younger brother, has recently come into a large fortune in company with him she explores the farm.

CHAPTER IV.

The churchyard gate was opened and closed noisily. They both glanced up. Stephen Strangeway was coming slowly toward them along the flinty path. Louise, suddenly herself again, rose briskly to her feet. Stephen had apparently lost none of his dourness of the previous night. As he looked toward Louise, there was no mistaking the slow dislike in his steely eyes.

"Your chauffeur, madam, has just returned," he announced. "He sent word that he will be ready to start at one o'clock."

Louise, inspired to battle by the almost provocative hostility of her elder host, smiled sweetly upon him. "You can't imagine how sorry I am to hear it," she said. "I don't know when, in the whole course of my life, I have met with such a delightful adventure or spent such a perfect morning."

Stephen looked at her with level, disapproving eyes—at her slender form in its perfectly fitting tailored gown; at her patent shoes, so obviously unsuitable for her surroundings; and at the faint vision of silk stockings.

"If I might say so without appearing inhospitable," he remarked, with faint sarcasm, "this would seem to be the fitting moment for your departure. A closer examination of our rough life up here might alter your views. If I do not have the pleasure of seeing you again, permit me to wish you farewell."

He turned and walked away. Louise watched him with very real interest.

"Do you know," she said to John, "there is something about your brother a little like the prophets in the Old Testament. In the way he sees only one issue and clings to it. Are you, too, of his way of thinking?"

"Up to a certain point, I believe I am," he confessed.

"Do you never feel cramped—in your mind, I mean?—feel that you want to push your way through the clouds into some other life?"

"I feel nearer the clouds here," he answered simply.

Louise's footsteps slackened. "You men," she sighed, "are all alike. You judge only by what happens. You never look inside. That is why your justice is so different from a woman's. I do not wish to argue with you; but what I so passionately object to is the sweeping judgment you make—the sheep on one side and the goats on the other. That is how man judges; God looks further. Every case is different. The law by which one should be judged may be poor justice for another."

She glanced at him almost appealingly, but there was no sign of yielding in his face.

"Laws," he reminded her, "are made for the benefit of the whole human race. Sometimes an individual may suffer for the benefit of others. That is inevitable."

"And so let the subject pass," she concluded; "but it saddens me to think that one of the great sorrows of the world should be there like a monument to spoil the wonder of this morning. Now I am going to ask you a question. Are you the John Strangeway who has recently had a fortune left to him?"

He nodded.

"You read about it in the newspapers, I suppose," he said. "Part of the story isn't true. It was stated that I had never seen my Australian uncle, but as a matter of fact, he has been over here three or four times. It was he who paid for my education at Harrow and Oxford."

"What did your brother say to that?"

"He opposed it," John confessed, "and he hated my uncle. He detests the thought of any one of us going out of sight of our own hills. My uncle had the wander fever."

"And you?" she asked suddenly.

"I have none of it," he asserted. A very faint smile played about her lips.

"Perhaps not before," she murmured; "but now?"

"Do you mean because I have inherited the money? Why should I go out like a Don Quixote and search for vague adventures?"

"Because you are a man!" she answered swiftly. "You have a brain and a soul too big for your life here. You eat and drink, and physically you flourish, but part of you sleeps because it is shut away from the world of real things. Don't you sometimes feel it in your very heart that life, as we were meant to live it, can only be lived among your fellow men?"

He looked over his shoulder, at the little cluster of farm buildings and cottages, and the gray stone church.

"It seems to me," he declared simply, "that the man who tries to live more than one life falls in both. There is a little cycle of life here, among our thirty or forty souls, which revolves around my brother and myself. A passer-by may glance upward from the road at our little hamlet, and wonder what can ever happen in such an out-of-the-way corner. I think the answer is just what I have told you. Love and marriage, birth and death happen. These things make life."

Her curiosity now had become merged in an immense interest. She laid her fingers lightly upon his arm.

"You speak for your people," she said. "That is well. But, you yourself?"

"I am one of them," he answered—a necessary part of them."

"How you deceive yourself! The time will come, before very long, when you will come out into the world; and the sooner the better. I think, Mr. John Strangeway, or you will grow like your brother here among your granite hills."

He moved a little uneasily. All the time she was watching him. It seemed to her that she could read the thoughts which were stirring in his brain.

"You would like to say, wouldn't you," she went on, "that this is a useful and an upright life? So it may be, but it is not wide enough or great enough. Some day you will feel the desire to climb. Promise me, will you, that when you feel the impulse you won't use all that obstinate will power of yours to crush it? You will destroy the best part of yourself, if you do. You will give it a chance? Promise?"

She held out her hand with a little impulsive gesture. He took it in his own, and held it steadfastly.

"I will remember," he promised.

Along the narrow streak of road, from the southward, they both watched the rapid approach of a large motor-car. There were two servants upon the front seat and one passenger—a man—inside. It swung into the level stretch beneath them, a fantasy of gray and silver in the reflected sunshine.

Louise had been leaning forward, her head supported upon her hands. As the car slackened speed, she rose very slowly to her feet.

"The chariot of deliverance!" she murmured.

"It is the prince of Seyre," John remarked, gazing down with a slight frown upon his forehead.

She nodded. They had started the descent and she was walking in very leisurely fashion.

"The prince is a great friend of mine," she said. "I had promised to spend last night, or at any rate, some portion of the evening, at Raynham castle on my way to London."

He summoned up courage to ask her the question which had been on his lips more than once.

"As your stay with us is so nearly over, won't you abandon your incongruity?"

"In the absence of your brother," she answered, "I will risk it. My name is Louise Maurel."

"Louise Maurel, the actress?" he repeated wonderingly.

"I am she," Louise confessed. "Would your brother," she added, with a little grimace, "feel that he had given me a night's lodging under false pretenses?"

John made no immediate reply. The world had turned topsyturvy with him. Louise Maurel, and a great friend of the prince of Seyre! He walked on mechanically until she turned and looked at him.

"Well?"

"Why?" she asked, a little startled at his candor.

"I am sorry, first of all, that you are a friend of the prince of Seyre."

"And again, why?"

"Because of his reputation in these parts."

"What does that mean?" she asked. "I am not a scandal-monger," John replied dryly. "I speak only of what I know. His estates near here are systematically neglected. He is the worst landlord in the country, and the most unscrupulous. His tenants, both here and in Westmoreland, have to work themselves to death to provide him with the means of living a disreputable life."

"Are you not forgetting that the prince of Seyre is a friend of mine?" she asked stiffly.

"I forget nothing," he answered. "You see, up here we have not learned the art of evading the truth."

She shrugged her shoulders. "So much for the prince of Seyre, then. And now, why your dislike of my profession?"

"That is another matter," he confessed. "You come from a world of which I know nothing. All I can say is that I would rather think of you—as something different."

She laughed at his somber face and patted his arm lightly.

"Big man of the hills," she said, "when you come down from your frozen heights to look for the flowers, I shall try to make you see things differently."

WITH THE EDITORS

(Emmons County Record.)

The other evening the Bismarck Tribune called attention to near sedulous utterances translated from a Dickinson newspaper printed in the German language. For several months we have heard rumors of pretty rough stuff being printed in foreign language newspapers, either to curry favor with that class of readers or to satisfy the rabid pro-German feelings of the publishers. We have had reason to believe that much of the unrest apparent among those who cannot talk the English language, or read it, has come from such newspapers. One reason why the Record is more than anxious during the war to have a little German matter each week is to attempt to counteract the evil effects of just such conditions. Most of our foreign-speaking population are upright, honest, hard working people and only misinformation and lack of a chance to keep up with conditions as is possible for English-speaking people causes them to appear somewhat out of sympathy with their government. Experience is showing us, however, that most of those who are dependent on this country for a chance to make a living and to rear a family aren't being very far astray by German-inspired articles in German language newspapers.

FOOD EMBARGO TIGHTENS GRIP

over them with the threat of the mailed fist if they do not help feed her. And at the same time she threatens, she tempts with unheard-of prices for what she wants.

As soon as Uncle Sam's embargo gets into good working order there not only will not be any surplus food in the neutral countries; there will actually be such a food scarcity that they will all have to go on a ration basis.

For America and her allies are not going to permit the people of the neutral nations to eat three square meals a day as the Allies' expense unless these nations earn this right by joining them in the war against German autocracy.

It is not considered at all unlikely in diplomatic circles here that America's embargo policy will force the neutrals, one by one, into the war against Germany.

It is argued that the neutral statesmen will very soon see that this is literally a world war, in which every nation must choose one side or the other and bear its full share of the burden or be crushed between the two great contending forces.

There is not one of the neutrals that is anywhere near self-sustaining from the standpoint of food. They are all absolutely dependent on the Allies for the shipping to bring it to them.

The situation of such neutrals as Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway is, to say the least, unenviable.

What the future may have in store for them no man can even guess.

But then, so far as that goes, the same may be said of the belligerent nations.

SOCIETY

Benton Baker Entertains Party on River Excursion

One of the most delightful social events of the season was the excursion up the Missouri river yesterday afternoon and evening, given by Benton Baker to about 150 of his friends. The steamer, Scarab, the largest in the fleet of the Benton Packet company, was attractively decorated in the national colors and from the main deck of the steamer hung the flags and pennants of the Allies.

The Scarab left the Missouri river landing shortly after 3 p. m. and, after a beautiful ride up stream of some 14 or 15 miles, the craft anchored and dinner was served. It was a delightful experience for the guests, as river outings in the vicinity of Bismarck are especially enjoyable and few realize the beautiful scenery on the upper Missouri, which at the present stage of water is navigable as far as Fort Benton, Mont., a distance of some 500 miles by water.

Following dinner, the weather weighed anchor again and the party was taken several miles further up the river, returning to the Bismarck dock about 9 p. m.

Mr. Baker was assisted in entertaining by his parents, Captain and Mrs. I. P. Baker, and his sister, Mrs. W. A. Leach.

To Make Their Future Home In The Magic City

Ex-Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. C. J. Fiske and daughters, Helen and Boris, will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis. They will make their home in that city.

Mr. Fisk was formerly chief justice of the supreme court and the family has become socially prominent in the city in their ten years' stay here. Their wide circle of friends and acquaintances regret to see them leave Bismarck. Mr. Fisk will have charge of that end of the law firm of Fisk, Linde & Murphy, who also have offices in this city.

Series of Entertainments.

The first of a series of farewell entertainments for Capt. and Mrs. James Murphy of the Salvation army will be given this evening by their friends at the Salvation hall. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy leave shortly for Sioux Falls, S. D., where they will make their future home.

Rabbi to Speak at Church.

Rabbi Sternheim, representative of the Jewish relief committee for sufferers of the war, who will address a public meeting at the Auditorium Sunday afternoon, will also speak in the evening at the McCabe Methodist church. The services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. William J. Hutcheson.

Leaves for Summer.

Mrs. James J. Powers, person court, left this morning for Chicago en route to Denver, Colo., to visit the remainder of the summer with her sister, Mrs. L. J. Smith, who, it will be remembered, visited here last fall. Mrs. Powers will also visit for a few days with friends at Marshalltown and other points in Iowa.

Mrs. Frazier Back.

Mrs. Lynn J. Frazier, who has been visiting with her sister at Winnipeg, Can., returned recently accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Wadge, and daughter, Miss Marcia Wadge. The two daughters and younger son of Governor and Mrs. Frazier, who accompanied her on the visit, also returned. The elder son will remain on the farm at Hoople, N. D., the remainder of the summer.

MAY TIE UP WORK.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 13.—Evidence of conditions were being circulated today among the Minneapolis city laborers pledging them to demand wage increases or to quit, resulting in a tense situation in the city hall, where aldermen said if petitioners were presented the city might have to abandon much of its public improvements this year.

Return to Hazelton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Smith of Hazelton, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Casselman and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Thistlethwaite of this city, have returned to their home. They were the guests of honor at a family dinner at the Thistlethwaite home Sunday.

At Home After July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wyson, whose marriage took place at Carpio a few days ago, and who visited Minot on their way to their new home in Bismarck, have taken apartments in the Rhud building at Bismarck, and will be at home to their friends after July 15.

TO OBSERVE HOLIDAY.

Paris, July 13.—Observance by the American troops in France of the French national holiday is provided in a proclamation issued today by Major General Pershing.

Mrs. Mary T. Swinney, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. L. Price, at 417 First street, for the last three months, was called home to Kankakee, Ill., today by a wire advising that her son is seriously ill in a hospital there.

Entertains Wisconsin Folk.

Mrs. James F. Campagna, 223 Twelfth street, entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison of Wisconsin, parents of Mrs. William F. Lowth of this city. Covers were laid for five. The centerpiece was of sweet peas.

REX BEACH'S "PARDNERS" AT GRAND THEATER

During the time the Bismarck theater is closed for redecorating the management of the Grand theater has made arrangements to present two complete performances every Saturday night at the Grand, commencing tomorrow night. The opening program under this new arrangement will be one that everyone should try and see. Nearly everyone has read some of Rex Beach's popular novels and to those who have read "Pardners" they sure will enjoy the big special feature photoplay produced by the Mutual Film company by the same name. Rex Beach is the author of "The Spoilers," "The Secret of the Valley," "The Barrier," and other popular success stories as well as "Pardners." "Pardners" is a tremendously powerful story of the far northwest pictured with wonderful fidelity as to location, and interpreted by a cast of note, headed by Charlotte Walker. A good comedy reel will complete the bill and the management looks for crowded houses at both performances, as the prices of 10 and 15 cents are very

HEAVIEST HAIL STORM IN FORTY YEARS' HISTORY

Pioneer Burleigh County Farmer Describes Phenomena in Wing Vicinity

GOOD RAINS GENERALLY THROUGHOUT THE STATE

J. A. Field, who has farmed in Burleigh county 40 years, declares a hail storm of an hour's duration, into which he and his daughter, Miss Jennie E. Field, ran, northwest of Wing, last evening, the severest he has ever experienced. Hailstones of unusual size fell in such quantity as to completely cover the ground for miles. Small grain was cut down and greatly damaged, but corn escaped with little injury.

Heavy winds which accompanied the hail blew over a barn, wrecked some agricultural machinery and did other damage in the northeastern part of the county.

O. W. Roberts, in charge of the weather bureau for the state of North Dakota, reports good rains throughout the state during the last 24 hours. The heaviest was at Lisbon, 95 inch; Larimore reported 60, Minot, 55, Wapeton, 47, and Devils Lake, 30.

Rain in Stutsman.

The northern part of Stutsman county had a very heavy rain last night, greatly increasing the prospects for a crop there.

BIG CROUD SEE WITCHING HOUR

"The Witching Hour," attended largely, had its screen premiere before an appreciative audience at the Auditorium yesterday evening.

The honors of the film adaptation go to C. Aubrey Smith, who gives a virile and compelling performance in the John Mason of the gambler, Jack Brookfield. Otherwise the able direction of George Irving and the skillful film arrangements of the drama overshadow the cast. The film play sweeps along by force of a story adroitly told. "The Witching Hour" has genuine grip and a mental message of uplift. It is an admirable and thoroughly commendable screen play.

TOM PUTS THE DANCE ON THE BUM

CHRISTIANS AND JEWS WILL PLEAD FOR GREAT WORK

Christian clergymen of every denomination will join with Rabbi Emanuel Sternheim of Sioux City, Ia., in urging support for the great movement for Jewish relief in Europe at a mass meeting to be held at the Auditorium at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon.

On the program with Rabbi Sternheim will be Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Chief Justice Andrew A. Bruce, Rev. W. J. Hutcheson of McCabe Methodist Episcopal Rev. M. J. Hillner, vicar general of the Bismarck diocese of the Catholic church; Rev. Bruce E. Jackson of the First Baptist church and Rev. George Buzzelle of St. George's Episcopal church.

The principal address of the afternoon will be made by Rabbi Sternheim, one of the west's biggest Jewish teachers. He will tell of the sufferings of the Jews in Europe, and of the vast sums which must be raised to save them from actual starvation. The present task is to subscribe $10,000,000 before the end of the year in order that the hardships endured by the Jews in the eastern war theater may be relieved. Julius Rosenwald of Chicago has offered to add one-tenth of the whole amount raised in America.

His example has been followed by scores of other prominent Jews throughout America. Governor Ramberger of Utah has announced his intention of adding one-tenth to the sum raised in that state.

The movement is one which has the endorsement and sympathy of all races, all classes and creeds. Felix M. Warburg of the federal reserve bank board has temporarily taken the place of Henry Morgenthau as chairman of the fund, and Nathan Strauss of New York has assumed a part of Mr. Morgenthau's executive work, while the latter is in Egypt on a diplomatic mission.

A general invitation is extended Bismarck people to attend Sunday's meeting.

Sunday morning and evening Rabbi Sternheim will occupy the pulpits in local churches.

WORRY By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

If you realized just what Worry is you would stop using it in your business. For Worry is the name given by the Devil to his choicest brand of smelling salts, and the more you get into the habit of using them the more you come to know what Hell is really like. Here's an antidote for Worry—Smile, Smile, Smile—Smile!

For where Smiles are, Worry is not. Worry is just plain poison. It is the most treacherous of poisons, for it not only eats into the finest powers of your mind and life, but it spreads and radiates like a contagious disease. Worry can do no harm to the atmosphere of cheer, great faith, hope—Work.

Work, Work, Work—Work! How useless Worry is—how foolish! Realize but this and you will very soon banish it and forever abhor it. Can you think of a single instance where Worry rendered you a service? Well, then, get rid of it.

Smile, Smile, Smile—Smile!

Worry never did and never will bring anything to pass. It never earned a cent and it never helped a human being. But if you keep busy, if you are continually seeking to render some service, you will never have time nor inclination to Worry.

PITCHER DOAK IS HUMOROUS

Makes Retort to Old Acquaintance That Offspring Is Not a Splitter, But a Stenographer.

Bill Donk, the Cardinal spitball specialist, may not be the greatest pitcher in the majors, but Bill has a rich fund of natural humor in his makeup. While walking down the street in St. Louis with his baby daughter, Donk encountered an old acquaintance who was not aware of the fact that Bill has been a proud father for some little time.

"Whose kid is that, Bill?" was the first question the player's friend asked. "Mine," proudly replied Bill. After the friend had cut over his surprise he queried, "Is it another splitter?" "No," retorted Donk, "it's a stenographer."

PLAYERS NOT GIVEN PASSES

Customary Little Bits of Pasteboard Conspicuous This Season by Their Woeful Absence.

In years gone by, it has been customary for each American league player to get two passes good for all games both at home and on the road. Scarcely were these pasteboards idle, as friends of the ball tossers took advantage of the opportunity. At the American league meeting last winter, it was decided by the club owners that these passes should be cut out, and nothing was said about it. When the players asked a few days after the start of the new year, for the little bits of pasteboard, they heard the sad news, and their friends have been hearing it since, whenever they asked for one of the tickets.

No Use For Them.
Richard, aged four, accompanied by his mother, was watching a regiment of soldiers, headed by its band, marching by. "Mamma," he asked, "what's the use of all them soldiers that don't make music?"

ACQUIRES HABIT OF FINDING SHORTSTOPS

SHORT FIELDERS UNEARTHED BY MCCREDIE.

Walter McCredie, manager of the Portland coast league club, is ready to send another shortstop to the major leagues. "Amley Hollocher," he declares, "is ready and will stick just as surely as some of the others McCredie has turned up."

McCredie has accumulated a habit of sending shortstops to the majors. Sprinkled around over both circuits is a smattering of former Beaver short fielders.

Roger Peckinpauz, now captain of the Yankees and one of the smartest and cleverest ball players in either league, was McCredie's first donation of any importance. McCredie dispatched him to Cleveland, but he was dropped there because shortstops were too frequently scattered around the Cleveland park. But he went to New York and immediately made good.

Ivan Olson was next. Ivan isn't a whale of a fielder or a demon with the stick, but he is recognized as a smart ball player, one of the wise fellows who are invaluable to a baseball club.

Then there came Dave Bancroft, starting every day for the Phillies. It has been said of Bancroft that it was due to him that the Phillies won a pennant in 1905. Of course, everyone admits that Grover Cleveland Alexander had something to do with it, but the Phillies certainly would have looked funny without a shortstop. And Bancroft was the only one of a half-dozen recruits that year who showed anything.

Chuck Ward is this year's contribution. McCredie calls him hard "ball hawk." He never has a hard chance. He is one of the easiest-working fielders in the business. McCredie believes he will prove one of the stars of the National league in a very short time. He is making an attempt to fill Hans Wagner's shoes at Pittsburgh.

Just a Step.
"You may not believe it, mum, but I mustn't kneel at the foot of a queen."

Robins Are Gluttons.
On an average, day food is brought to the robin's nest every 15 minutes. Each young robin requires daily two or three times its weight in bugs and worms. When food is offered these ever-hungry little creatures open their large yellow mouths wide and jostle each other.

HALF BLIND, CRIPPLED OHIO BOY HAS AMBITION TO BECOME PITCHER

WILLIAM J. FORSYTH.

With all the examples of nerve in perseverance in baseball there is, perhaps no more striking example than that of William Forsyth, 13, Fremont, O., boy, who is trying to make a pitcher of himself.

Half blind, Forsyth lost his right eye when a child, and handicapped with a crippled hand, the youth is one of the best amateur pitchers in northern Ohio and hopes to break into professional ball next year.

Forsyth lost his thumb several years ago, but by practice, learned to get a firm grip on the ball. He has an assortment of curves and a good change of pace.

Recently he fanned 35 men in two games, holding his opponents to three hits in the first contest, which is pretty good evidence of his control.

BASEBALL STORIES

Ed Pfeiffer doesn't seem to be able to get into his stride.

Pinch hitters never hit in a pinch--except when they are on the opposing side.

Tom Seaton has won a stay with the Chicago Cubs because of his good work.

Peckinpauz, once a light hitter, is leading the major-league shortstops at the bat.

American Association umpires are wearing the national colors around their left arms.

Ray Bates, the Athletics' new third baseman, is a six-footer, but is very fast on his feet.

Jim Vaughn is to get a bonus of $1,000 from the Chicago club if he wins 20 games this year.

The Red Sox don't look as if they have been weakened much by the retirement of Bill Carrigan.

Mexicans Turn to Business.

To the chamber of commerce at Torreon falls the distinction of being the first chamber to be organized in Coahuila since the beginning of the Mexican revolution. Uncle Sam's consul at Piedras Negras reports. It is actively proceeding with the work of restoring commercial relations with other sections of the state and with the United States and regularly issues an interesting bulletin. There is a great deal of talk among the merchants of other towns relative to the formation of these business clubs.

The Triumphal March of

A NEW CREATION OF SCIENCE AND NATURE

When we announced Bevo recently, our hopes were high. We knew that we had the most unusual soft drink that had ever been offered: A Leverage combining the nutritive extracts of wholesome cereals, the zest of Sazer Hops, a flavor all its own and absolute purity. We knew this because, true to our own ideals, we had experimented for years before we were satisfied to say, "We offer you Bevo—it is a different soft drink—it is good and it is good for you."

High as were our hopes for its reception, we have realized them far and beyond our expectations.

Bevo today is an established popular success. Everywhere the same question is asked:—"Have you tried Bevo?"

Now, one final word. We promise you that, in accord with the known principles of Anheuser-Busch and all its products, Bevo not only will forever maintain its present high standard of quality, but as time goes on our great endeavor shall be to make this soft drink even more perfect in every detail of its goodness.

You will find Bevo at inns, restaurants, groceries, department and drug stores, picnic grounds, baseball parks, soda fountains, dining cars and other places where refreshing beverages are sold.

Guard against substitutes. Have the bottle opened in front of you, first seeing that the seal is unbroken and that the crown top bears the Fox.

ONE CHANCE IN THREE OF BEING CALLED TO ARMY

How National Army Will Be Raised Under Universal Service System.

READY TO START THE WORK

Rules for Exemption Boards Will Be Ironclad and Every Possibility of Misunderstanding Eliminated—First Call Probably Will Be for 750,000 Men.

Washington.—Of nearly 9,500,000 men of military age who have been registered in accordance with the selective draft law, those who are physically qualified and are not exempted will have one chance in three of being called to the colors this year.

This is the estimate that has been made by the military authorities in Washington.

The first phase of the great task of raising an army under the universal service system has been completed. More than 10,000,000 men have actually been enrolled and, taking into consideration the number of men of registration age who are now serving either in the army or navy or National Guard, the estimates made by the census bureau upon the basis of population have been attained. All of the men subject to the law have responded to the call.

Wait for Army Regulations.

The second phase of the problem of raising a national army will begin as soon as the president has approved the exemption regulations which have been drafted by a special board under the direction of the provost marshal general. In many respects it is the more complicated and difficult portion of the task. Approximately 4,800 boards—one for every 30,000 of the population of the country—are to be appointed to pass upon the exemptions, to decide who shall be subject to the call of military duty and who shall not.

Boards of appeal for every federal judicial district must also be designated by the president.

When this has been accomplished the instructions to the primary boards, which are to act in the capacity of courts of first instance in passing upon exemptions are to be issued. Maj. Gen. Enoch C. Crowder and his assistants—among them some of the most distinguished lawyers of the country—have virtually completed the preliminary draft which is now before the president and the secretary of war. As soon as it is approved and the word is given the huge machine will be set in motion grinding out the first increment of 750,000 men for the new national army.

No Comment in Advance.

For fear of confusing the 9,500,000 men who will be subject to the call, General Crowder has been unusually careful not to make any statement on the system that has been tentatively devised. He himself has a very clear idea, he said, of what is to be done, but before the instructions are to be sent out every possibility of misunderstanding is to be weighed and every change for completion is to be eliminated.

The rules are to be ironclad and as specific as human ingenuity can make them, so that there will be no possibility of charges of discrimination and favoritism in the selection of the men who are to take up arms with the first 500,000.

Military authorities estimate that the first draft will be for considerably more than that number. In addition to the national army, the regular army and the National Guard will probably be brought up to war strength. There also must be reserve training camps, which may be drawn upon to fill vacancies in the active ranks. It is not improbable, therefore, that the number to be selected will be nearer 750,000 than 500,000.

Placing the number of men registered at 10,000,000 it is estimated that 5,000,000 will be exempted for general reasons; of the remaining 5,000,000, 2,500,000 will be rejected for physical disability, according to the standards now prevailing for recruits.

There will remain, therefore, subject to call for duty at any time 2,500,000 men, who will be ready at any time to begin their military training. If 750,000 are to be called, the man who has registered and is physically fit and cannot claim exemption, has a little better than one chance in three to go into active service.

General Exemptions.

It is probable that a certain proportion of those who have registered will be exempted in classes—foreign subjects, those who are obviously physically unfit, and in general persons employed in the public service, managers, workmen in arsenals, armories and at the navy yards. The regulations will designate specifically how these general exemptions are to be made.

Those who do not fall within these general classes must appear before the exemption board within their district and set forth their claims. The more fact, for example, that a man is married and has children will be no bar to his selection for service. He must demonstrate that he contributes to the support of his family. The village idler whose wife takes in washing will probably have difficulty in convincing the board that he should not go into training.

The call will be made by the president for a certain number of men sufficiently large to make it certain that the necessary number for actual service will be obtained after eliminations for one cause or another.

The board which is now devising the scheme by which the men may be chosen has experimented with various devices for drawing by lot. It is probable that this phase of the draft will be made a public ceremony, which will be carried out at the capitals of the states or in some other public place. If the registrant has run the exemption gantlet he will present himself before the military authorities for physical examination. If rejected, he will be dismissed, but a record of his case will be kept. If accepted, he will be sent to one of the sixteen cantonments where he will undergo training to fit him for the rigors of war or held in readiness to enter one of the training camps which will be drawn upon to fill gaps in the ranks.

A Tremendous Task.

Army officials do not minimize the difficulty of this intricate task ahead of them. The president is wrestling with the problem of selecting the exemption boards, so that there will be no basis for charges of favoritism or political preference. The normal board probably will be the same as that which conducted the registration, but there will be no more of the same.

NORTH DAKOTA WIRES CAPITAL OF READINESS

North Dakota is ready for the draft. Washington was advised today. The last report of county exemption boards came in at noon, and the high number for this state immediately was wired Washington.

That number is 4332, and is owned by a Cass county citizen who registered in Minnesota. Incidentally it is the only "4332" in North Dakota, as no other county's serially numbered cards reach that total, and there is conferred on this Cass county citizen a unique distinction.

When all states have wired to Washington their highest numbers, cards correspondingly numbered will be dumped into an old-fashioned jury wheel, and the drafting will begin. As each card is drawn it will be reported to registration headquarters in each state, and the man whose number that card bears in each county will be listed for possible selection. From the total number drafted after all exemptions have been allowed will finally be selected Uncle Sam's first "selective service" army of 500,000. After a man's name is drawn, his chances of finally being drafted are about one in three, but a list of eligibles not selected for the first draft will be kept for future reference.

Population Estimate
The July estimate of the bureau of the census upon which North Dakota's draft quota will be based, gives the state 708,992 people, as compared with a federal enumeration of 577,156 in 1910, and a state estimate of 636,956 in 1915. The last estimate of the national bureau of the census gave North Dakota 750,260.

The July 1 estimate is arrived at by dividing 9,659,882, the total registration as shown by preliminary telegraphic returns, by the total population of continental United States, exclusive of Alaska, as heretofore estimated at 108,635,300, in order to obtain the proportion of registrants to total population. The resulting figure, 9.32 per cent, was assumed to represent the proportion which the registrants in each geographical unit represented of the total population thereof.

On this basis, the bureau of the census gives Bismarck county a population of 19,142, as against 14,167, Secretary of State Hall's 1915 estimate, and 13,967, the census bureau's 1910 enumeration. Cass county is shown to have a population of 48,970, as compared with 40,436 in 1915, and 33,935 in 1910. Grand Forks is given 30,418 people, as against 28,668 in 1915 and 27,888 in 1910.

McHenry is given a decrease, 15,182 as against 16,960 in 1915 and 17,627 in 1910. Bottineau is in the same case, with 15,773 people, as against 17,337 in 1915 and 17,295 in 1910. Mountrail, with 18,948 people as compared with 11,135 in 1915, and 8,491 in 1910, is given the biggest increase. A majority of the small counties range on a close level with the secretary of state's 1915 estimates.

FEDERAL PAY BEGINS SUNDAY; BOYS IN TOWN MAY SLEEP AT HOME

Federal pay for troops of the First North Dakota Infantry will begin Sunday. From that date until discharged, the boys will be in federal service. The first will be expected to report at company stations every day for drill and other duties, but those who reside in town may sleep at home, as a very convenient arrangement, inasmuch as there are not sufficient blankets to bunk all of the guardsmen in their armories.

It is regarded as probable that the companies will remain on duty at their home stations for at least two weeks. Nothing further has been learned relative to the mobilization at Fort Lincoln, designated by the war department as the mobilization camp site for all state troops, which will mean the draft army as well as the volunteer guardsmen.

COAL SHORTAGE IS THREATENED IN NORTHWEST

Minneapolis, Minn., July 13.—The seriousness of the coal shortage situation in the northwest was set forth by the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association today in telegrams to President Wilson, Howard Elliott of the council of national defense, and Minnesota senators and representatives, with the appeal that immediate action be forthcoming from Washington.

The telegrams represent the initial action of a movement expected to be followed out by commercial bodies of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Montana to seek action to avert a crisis in the coal situation. The Civic and Commerce association, which is announced today, will co-operate with other bodies, including the St. Paul association, to obtain relief.

Result in Calamity.
"Much suffering in Minnesota is inevitable in the coming winter unless coal shipments in the docks in Duluth and Superior are largely increased immediately," said the telegram sent today by M. A. Sheldon, president of the association.

"The present rate of shipments will result in a calamity throughout the adjoining northwest states and a paralyzing of industries essential to war activities which cannot be avoided because of rail movements of eastern coal sufficient for the needs of our people and necessary operation of railways cannot be avoided."

NO APPROPRIATION MADE FOR GUARANTY BOARD'S EXPENSES

With estimated expenses in the neighborhood of $15,000 confronting it, and with no specific appropriation from which these expenses can be paid, North Dakota's new bank deposits guaranty board, which is asked to undertake the safeguarding of the millions on deposit in the state banks, is at a loss to find someone to guarantee the few thousands of which it stands in imperative need.

This problem occupied the attention of the board this afternoon, when it assembled in Governor Frazier's office for its organization meeting. The only clause of Senator Brown's depository guaranty act which makes a noise like an appropriation reads: "The members of the commission other than the governor and state examiner shall receive for their services $5 per day for the time actually served and their actual expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, the same to be paid out of the general fund of the state."

While organization expenses might possibly be charged up to the commissioners and their expense vouchers for the same be accepted by the state treasurer, it would be a rather irregular proceeding. The emergency fund might advance the necessary $15,000, if it had the money, but of its original $25,000 little more than $15,000 now remains, with a long, dry spell ahead. As the board is composed of some of the state's best known financiers, it is predicted they will find a way out, and the public is anxiously awaiting developments.

Once in a Blue Moon.
"I understand your dinner party was a great success—quite an enjoyable affair."
"So it was," replied Mrs. Gadson.
"The unexpected happened."
"And what was that?"
"The people we had to invite expressed themselves and the people we really wanted were all present."

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them with the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Don't get your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine, it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.
